

Caroline CORVIN

ROMANCE WITH A TWIST

April News & Musings

In This Newsletter:

1. Check out the website!
2. Tangled Threads - reader feedback
3. Coming soon - take a peek at the next Tangled In Time book
4. April Promos - books for the Easter break
5. Caroline's Bookshelf - spending time with some old and new favourite authors
6. Caroline's Corner - Personal update

Check out my website!

We are no longer 'Under Construction'! Thanks to the hard work of our amazing website developer Matt Selznick and the support of my brilliant IT savvy husband, I'm pleased to say the website is live. Hop over and see how beautiful it is. I'm looking forward to adding my new books as they come along. Check back there often as I regularly add to my blog, with posts of interest to my readers and those of you who write as well.

Go To Caroline's Website

Are you an author in need of a new website? If so, I recommend you have a chat to Matt. He was a breeze to work with and his support once your site is live gives you the ability to get in there and update yourself.

Find him at: <https://www.mattselznick.com/services> And if you do, don't forget to let him know Caroline sent you!

Two men
Two loves
Two lives

*A story of love
across time*

Click Here To Buy!

What if her future lies in a past she can't even remember?

Tangled Threads is the first book in Caroline Corvin's Tangled In Time series. Offering contemporary romance with a twist, a unique take on time travel romance without the history, a story of love across parallel lives. Kate's journey will take you in unexpected directions as she realises that within time's tangled threads lies the promise of two men, two loves, and two lives - but also the risk of losing them both forever.

From my readers:

"a truly heartfelt, moving story" "an enjoyable fantasy romance read"

"I enjoyed the characters and the chemistry"

Read the first 3 chapters of Tangled Threads

My Picks For The Cast of Tangled Threads - The Series

Click Here To Visit My Pinterest Board

Last month I challenged you to use my Pinterest Board to match my actor picks in the Supporting Characters folder. Here are the answers!

Henry: Benedict Cumberbatch; Lydia: Emily Blunt; Julien: Aiden Gillen; Nicky,: Sandra Bullock; Ange: Lauren Lyle; Tracey: Jennifer Lawrence; Mary: Samantha Bond; and Keith: George Clooney. If you haven't already, check out my location photos too. I'm also sharing more about my Tangled Threads locations on my website blog.

 New subscribers, last month I revealed my main character choices which are: Kate: Cameron Diaz; James: Tom Ellis; Alex: Sam Heughan; and Elie: Karen Gillan

And the next story begins...

Tangled Paths - Coming Soon

"In a world full of limitless lives, of endless possibilities, I will always find you."

So excited to share this stunning cover for Tangled Paths, the second book in the Tangled In Time series. Be prepared for Sarah's journey to break your heart, and restore your faith in the power of love to find what is lost and to heal what is broken.

Thanks to my amazing cover designer, Deborah Bradseth of Tugboat Designs for capturing the essence of my work in this cover image.

Romance Reads – For Free In April

Click on links in images or headings to check them out!

Contemporary Romance

You'll be spoiled for choice in this fabulous collection of books, including my

Ends in One Week - 22nd April

Get In Quick!

I suggest you pop straight over to the My Book cave link. Not only are there some gorgeous romance reads for free, you could win $25 of book credit to spend at your favourite store.

novella Tangled In Time, to fill your April reading list for free.

My Book Cave is a new site I'm using and they have some interesting opportunities for readers and authors.

Free Historical Romance

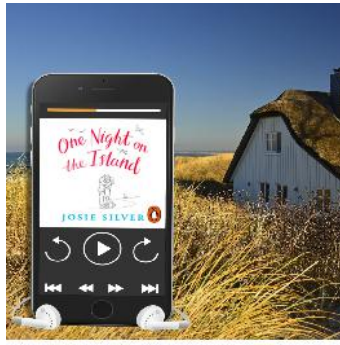

If you like your time travel historical, you'll find plenty to choose from in this collection, free for April.

So Much Choice!

Wherever in time you like to find yourself, there's bound to be a book here for you!

Caroline's Bookshelf

The Firebird by Susanna Kearsley

Susanna's love of the unexplained permeates all her books, including this one. In The Firebird, we are also reunited with familiar faces from previous books: Rob, from The Shadowy Horses returns as friend to the main modern day character, Nicola. And we flip back in time to be reunited with Anna, a small child in The Winter Sea. I always appreciate Susanna's attention to detail in the historical segments of her books. In this one we visit Russia in the age of Peter The Great and his Empress Catherine. Fans of historical fiction will enjoy this one.

One Night On The Island by Josie Silver

Yes, this month it's another Josie Silver and another 5 stars from me. It would be so easy to read the synopsis and think it's just another iteration of the 'forced proximity' trope. Cleo, a writer, arrives on Salvation, a remote Irish island, in the hope of finding herself. Mac, a photographer, is seeking refuge from the disintegration of his family in the home of his ancestors. But in the confines of Otter Lodge, surrounded by the hauntingly beautiful island and wrapped in the warmth of its inhabitants, each finds more than they ever hoped for. This is a special book, and I've just bought it in print format to go alongside my audiobook.

Again Rachel by Marian Keyes

Another one of my must-read authors, since I first picked up Last Chance Saloon so many years ago. This is a sequel to one of my favourite Marian Keyes books, Rachel's Holiday. You don't need to have read it to enjoy this one, but I would still suggest you do. Also, I recommend this in audiobook, read by the author herself in her gorgeous lilting Irish accent. Have your tissues ready. I laughed, and I ugly-cried on this emotional rollercoaster. A few parts left me totally wrecked, but the ending soothed my troubled heart. It is the most beautiful account of how Rachel (and Luke) overcome the very worst of what life can throw at you.

Caroline's Corner

April update from Auckland

April has not disappointed, with warm autumn days and clear starry nights. I'm a bit obsessed with the stars. It started back when we were breeding miniature horses, and I'd find myself sitting alone in a paddock at 3 a.m., reluctant to leave some little equine mama-to-be in case tonight was the night. I've been fortunate to live in some real dark sky country, where the stars are so dazzlingly bright. I have a proper telescope on my birthday wishlist (yes, that's a hint, Mr C).

It was inevitable that my love of the night should creep into at least one of my books. You'll notice on the cover of Tangled Paths that Sarah and Calum do a bit of stargazing. My next ambition is to see the Aurora Borealis. I'm so envious of all the Scottish people I follow on social media showing off their stunning pictures. One day, soon...

You'll see here I myself have been the subject of some photography. I stepped out from behind my logos to have some decent author photos taken. Such fun to dress up and put on make-up, particularly after months of lockdown where that went by the wayside.

As I write this, it's two sleeps until the Easter Bunny comes! Hope he brings you loads of sweet treats.

Use my Link Tree To Connect on Social Media

Caroline Corvin

P.O. Box 100, Kaukapakapa, Auckland
New Zealand

caroline@carolinecorvin.com

www.carolinecorvin.com

You received this email because you signed up on my website or opted in from a book giveaway. I'd love to keep in touch but if you truly don't want to hear from me anymore, you can unsubscribe below.

If you prefer to just hear when I've got a new release, follow me on Amazon, Goodreads or BookBub.

Unsubscribe

