November News & Musings with Caroline

Hello from New Zealand, where sneaky summer is popping in to say 'Hi' now and then. Welcome to my November newsletter.

It's great to see my regulars and also those who are new this month! You're receiving this newsletter because you signed up for a free book or a giveaway. I hope you enjoy the content I share. I promise not to overload you. Expect a monthly update and an occasional extra for a new release or special promotion.

I thought with the launch of Tangled Paths things would be a little quieter—but no, it's busier than ever. And I quite like it that way.

Tangled Paths: A love story across time...

"Each time it happened, the piece of my life that flashed before my eyes was a part I didn't remember. Like it was some other life. That alone is disturbing. But the thing that I can't comprehend—in every one of them—there was a woman." He stopped for a moment, and she saw his prominent Adam's apple pulse, as he took a gulp of air. "And that woman was you."

Tangled Paths is available in ebook and paperback across a wide range of retailers. Click on the lefthand button to see retailer availability.

Caroline's Reading Nook Books, Film and Music

It's romance month at my place!

When I look back on 2022, one thing I'll remember is it was the year I fell in love with audiobooks. And my latest favourite, Love And Other Words by Christina Lauren is another superbly narrated book. Couple that with friends to lovers and second-chance romance, two of my top tropes, and this book is one of my favourite romance reads this year. I've also been enjoying some other much recommended romances and feel pleased I can now say I've read Beach Read and You And Me On Vacation by Emily Henry. I can see why this author has such a following and I look forward to working my way through some more of her books, hopefully when I get my summer vacation!

Reality TV out of Australia is tops at my house at the moment. Hubby and I are addicted to Australian Ninja Warrior. It's such an exciting example of people who display determination, resilience and all round great sportsmanship, as well as astonishing physical skill. We also tune in to The Voice Australia, another chance to see incredible talent as future singing stars take their first steps into the limelight.

Musically I'm spending a lot of time listening to the Foo Fighters and Nirvana. I'm a huge fan of Dave Grohl and my rock music fan-girling also has a new purpose—when Tangled Hearts releases in 2023 you will find out what that is!

Author Update
Caroline's writing life

Those of you who've read my blog on the website will know my top Clifton Strength is Input: I need lots going in so I can output creatively. I'm about to have a major session of input this week with a virtual ticket to the 20Books to 50k Vegas Conference. So many amazing sessions on craft, publishing and marketing, I'm spoilt for choice. Due to my timezone it's going to be tricky to see everything live, but there are certainly some it's worth staying up late for. My goal is to be in Las Vegas in person for the full experience in 2023.

Another fabulous input opportunity was the Prowriting Aid Romance Writers Week. I learned so much, but my favourite session was an interview with Taylor Jenkins Reid. She's not only talented, but a delightful person. It was wonderful to hear her speak about her books and the characters we love. I also enjoyed hearing about her process, especially the research behind the books. Such a hardworking author.

All this input must be doing its job, because Tangled Hearts is just pouring onto the page at the moment. These characters fill my waking moments and still whisper in my head while I'm sleeping!

So much choice!

This new romance on Kindle Vella by author Loren Sorenson is fabulous. I'm sure that like me you'll be captivated with Isla and Graham's love story. Link in heading and image.

Welcome to my world

Lots To be Thankful For

I really love the concept of Thanksgiving. It's a shame we don't celebrate it in New Zealand and I look forward to the day when I might have the opportunity to spend the holiday with my US friends. It's so important amid all the bustle of life to stop and take the time to be grateful for all the good things in our lives: family, friends, and the opportunities for happiness that come our way.

This year I've got so many things to be grateful for. In particular I am humbled by the support I've received on my author journey. No matter how little or much you have materially, it's the people in your life that make you rich. And I am truly blessed to have an abundance of wonderful people surrounding me.

I really admire people who keep up a daily gratitude practice. It's not a habit I've managed to establish yet but I follow a few others, including some authors, who post daily. So while they might not be my specific gratitudes there, I enjoy them because they remind me to look for joy around me, whether it be big or small things.

So to all of you who celebrate, a warm and heartfelt Happy Thanksgiving!
